The Carmel Pine Cone

The lissome lady above appears to be enjoying her role of a painter of birds on a beach at the Doud Ranch south of Carmel. On Saturday, a visit to the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer motion picture set situated below steep cliffs proved this to be true.

Her real life husband and film lover, also seemed to be happy making a motion picture in the little cove.

As for the nine-year-old boy who, in the movie, plays the lady's son born out of wedlock, he jumped off rocks and ran up and down the steep steps leading to the set with carefree joy.

The only member of the cast that seemed at all apathetic about his role was a bird. This sandpiper maintained an attitude of quiet aloofness even when one of the most beautiful women in the world, Elizabeth Taylor, cradled him in her hands and caressingly stroked his back with her classic nose.

But Elizabeth Taylor definitely is not "for the birds."

No picture, truly portrays her beauty. One of the world's greatest photographers, Richard Avedon, who was taking still photographs of her Saturday between "shots", will, no doubt, catch and record her loveliness. But she needs to be seen in three-dimensions to be fully appreciated.

She is all curves. Her black hair and eyebrows are a startling contrast to her startlingly blue eyes. When seen in a lilac bathing suit, or the shift of the same color that covers it in one scene she was playing on Saturday, the color of these eyes is almost breathtaking. She also has a charmingly modulated voice; possesses graciousness and a sense of humor.

In "The Sandpiper," she plays the role of an unconventional artist. This means she is simply clad, tanned, and her glossy hair falls naturally. She appears to have, indeed, just stepped out of a weathered Big Sur cliffside home for a picnic on the beach with her married lover, Richard Burton, as she did in one scene on Saturday.

Mr. Burton was wearing faded blue denim pants and matching sweatshirt. He, too, looked exactly like an ordinary Big Sur resident off for an outing. But Mr. Burton's voice and smiling charm were not at all ordinary Big Sur.

In the film, he is an Episcopalian clergyman and headmaster of a private school to which the nine-year-old son of the lady with whom he is involved emotionally has been sent by a judge, after the boy inadvertently kills a deer.

The little boy, played by Morgan Mason, son of James and Pamela Mason, acts like any little boy who is not too handsome and full of uninhibited appreciation of life.

In fact, happy, natural informality seemed to predominate Saturday on "The Sandpiper" set. The sun shone; the wind blew. Elizabeth and Richard Burton joked with one another and the camera crew; shivered in the breeze. Director Vincent Minelli and Producer Martin Ransohoff were unhurried . . . and so was everyone else.

But Morgan Hudgin and Bob Crutchfield, publicity men for the picture, gave information that explained why everything was progressing with such ease.

One hundred and fifty persons were on the set taking care of all the details necessary for such smooth production. Months of research were undertaken before the set was set up. Sydney Guilaroff, himself, was there to see that Miss Taylor's hair was perfectly natural when she went before the camera. Irene Sharaff, famous theatre and fashion designer, had created the simple garments worn by Miss Taylor. It took $35,000 to build the weatherworn cabin on the cliffs, including painting rust on the chimney pipe and roof.

Huge cameras were placed on the beach in certain locations. Members of the camera crew simply dropped cables over the cliff

Feathers . . . From the Shaft

By Harry the Fletcher

No. 73

We ask the gods to please arrange for everlasting Spring, forgetting that the seasons' change brings happy mellowing. Prolonging youth is vain desire, since winter will not wait. And when the coals have burned, the fire no longer warms the grate.

There's not much fruit on tender trees; few fish in freshet brooks. No ship goes far in zephyr breeze; nor pie without a cook. The youngster can't mature at will, the years must take their toll. And runners in the race must still be conscious of their goal.

So waste no time in discontent, you have no other choice. We're on the road where others went, and still can hear their voice. We can't turn back, and that's the truth, regardless how we fight. So just forget your quest for youth, and learn to grow up right.

Carmel Point Asks To Annex To The City

A petition from Carmel Point residents asking to be annexed to the City of Carmel was presented to City Clerk Hugh Bayless this morning.

Last week, annexation petitions were received from the Walker, Mission Fields, Rio Way and Mission tracts, also a portion of Hatton Fields lying on each side of Ladera Drive, and other parts of Hatton Fields below Atherton Place and above Oliver Road.

This means Carmel Mission Basilica, the Mission Ranch, River School and the home of the 20 Beardsley children and their parents will be inside the city limits if the proposed annexations go into effect.

Yesterday, at the request of the city council, the planning commission set in motion preparations for a report on annexation. The commission's planning and conservation committee, composed of Fred Keeble, Anthony Vasconcellos and Hugh Smith, was asked by Chairman Dorothy von Meier to make a study of the annexation proposals in relation to Carmel. On October 1 at 7:30 p.m. this committee will report back to other planning commissioners at a special meeting in city hall.

The next step in the annexation procedure will be for the planning commission to report on their findings, also make recommendations, to the city council. This must be done before October 20.

CITY'S FINANCES

On page 12 of this issue of the Pine Cone is printed the city's financial statement for the fiscal year which ended June 30.

City Clerk Hugh Bayless says he has presented the statement in a new format which, he thinks, shows clearly where the city stood financially at the beginning of the current fiscal year on July 1.

He says the city is on a sound financial footing and the city council is informed about municipal finances, in fact, financially the city is in better shape than it has been for some time, he wishes to emphasize.

School Board To Hire Guard For Highway Crossing

Following an hour's exploration of various ways and means to make crossing Highway One at Atherton Drive safer for students walking to and from the high school and junior high, the Carmel Unified School District board of education last night decided to hire a crossing guard and ask the State Division of Highways for a flashing signal, or signals, at the intersection.

Superintendent Medill Bair told the board he had received from parents complaints about the dangerousness of this crossing, also the pedestrian pathway on the east side of Highway One from Carmel High School to above the Carmel Valley Road intersection.

This path was constructed this spring at the instigation of Supervisor Thomson J. Hudson. Granite Construction Company donated all grading as a community project.

Because of the existence of the path, and another path and pedestrian crossing at Rio Road this year the school district discontinued school bus service for junior high students living in Hatton Fields, South Carmel Hills and Mission Fields, all within two miles of the junior high. The policy of the school board is to provide no bus service to any school within this limit, if safe means of walking to the school is available to students.

Last night, the board considered the hour, from 8:15-9:15 a.m., to be the most hazardous at the Atherton Drive-Highway One intersection. Superintendent Bair was authorized to employ a guard during this period. Permission to have this guard, also approval of the guard selected, must first be obtained from the state.

Mr. Bair was also asked to request the Division of Highways for appropriate signals and crosswalk

Planners Consider Mall, Surrey Bus And Carousel Court

A bus, surrey with a fringe on top type, was suggested to Carmel planning commissioners yesterday afternoon as a novel way to solve much of the business district parking problem in the summer months. Planners also looked at plans for a shop and office court complex centered around a building resembling a carousel.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis V. Meehan and Alice M. Gresham proposed the bus idea. In a letter to the commission, they suggested that Ocean Avenue between Mission and Monte Verde streets be closed to vehicular traffic from June 15 to September 15 each day from

CITY-GALLERY RULING

Last Friday City Attorney John Morse, in federal court in San Francisco, moved for a summary judgment on the action of the Fine Arts Gallery of Scottsdale against the City of Carmel.

Yesterday he got an adverse order from the court ruling against the city so the city-gallery situation stays as it was, still undecided.

The city contends the 'public sales' business violates city zoning laws, also the city's emergency ordinance prohibiting auctions.

The gallery contends it does not . . . and continues to operate. A previous ruling from the same court prevents the city from taking any action against the gallery until the judge has completed consideration of the matter.

"The Tempest" Marks Milestone In Circle Theatre's Development

Next week it will be six years since Frederick Rider, product of Yale University Drama School and the University of Washington, Seattle, avid student of classical theatre, actor and director, was named head of the Circle Theatre of the Golden Bough.

One year later he was joined by Nick Zanides, whom he had known in Seattle when they were fellow students at the university. Their talents, interests and ambitions were almost identical.

Through the years the two have placed the Circle Theatre in the foremost ranks of little theatres throughout the country. They have presented comedy, farce, drama and musicals, early classics and "hits" fresh from Broadway. Perfectionists, no detail of their productions was overlooked. Casting, costuming, and stage sets were to the two actor-directors as vital to each play's success as their personal characterizations.

The current presentation of Shakespeare's fanciful comedy, "The Tempest" which opened on Friday evening, marks, for this reviewer, a milestone in the steady growth of the Circle Theatre's contribution to the world of theatre art.

The guest director, Vosco Call of Utah State University, has shown rare sensitivity and imagination. Each of the many characters involved in the telling of the tale of love and nefarious intrigue becomes an unforgetable individual.

That the casting was due to years of experience with our local talent was obviously the work of Rider and Zanides because their selections for the major roles in the current piece have brought together a constellation of stars.

Certainly the stellar role is Ariel's, the sprite who creates the tempest. Beautiful, fearful, lovable Ariel, the spirit of storm, the child-fairy yearning for freedom from human loyalty, with magic in her voice, freedom of the air in every movement, is played by Rosamond Goodrich with a blend of intensity and appeal that brought bravos from the opening night audience. With her are the three sprites Fire, Water and Earth, mimed by Penelope Nesbitt, Mag Merrick and Layne Littlepage. Responsible for the mythological atmosphere of the tale, Ariel and her sprites as enacted at the Circle, are magic creatures indeed. Particularly entrancing was the Masque, executed with ballet precision.

As Prospero, Duke of Naples, victim of court intrigue, outcast and virtual prisoner with his daughter, Miranda, on the island of spirits and monsters, Frederick Rider was superb. His elocution of the bard's poetic prose may well be ranked with that of the great Shakespearean actors of our day. Neither "singing" nor orating, Mr. Rider, in soliloquy was enthralling. In royal robes, he was Shakespeare's gentle Prospero.

As his daughter, Miranda, upon whom the love story of "The Tempest" focuses, Anne Pennoyer, demure and lovely to look at, gave a fine performance. Playing opposite her, talented Terry Poland characterized Ferdinand, crown prince of Milan. Their love scenes had that heart-touching poignancy that only really young and perceptive actors and actresses can achieve.

As most famous of legendary monsters, Caliban, Nick Zanides accomplished an emotional feat. Despite his truly hideous makeup, his grovelling perfidy, his animal grunts and groans, there were moments when audience sympathy was entirely his, when his bawdy, leering humor won captivated amusement . . . and his gymnastics were shattering. "Terrific" is the word for Mr Zanides' Caliban!

Dick Vreeland and Nick Hovick, as Stephano and Trinculo the "slapstick" comics, were priceless. Audience laughter echoed and re-echoed round the Circle at their antics. Perfectly attuned, their give and take patter was hilarious —and they were literally, the dirtiest pair, ever to grace a respectable stage—a credit to the costumer's lurid imagination.

Also contributing to the play's success were John Toliver, Van Marsh, Ron Roberts, Irving Rogers, Clancy Van Horn, Keith Decker, Dwight Marshall and Chris Hovick. Each played his character with depth and finesse.

Two fine musicians, using rarely heard ancient instruments, provided the music so essential to the play's success. Ken Ahrens at the harpsichord and Robert Bouchard playing the recorder gave the crowning professional touch to the production.

Vosco Call and Barbara Tripp were responsible for the costume design, a job showing uninhibited imagination. Lighting and sound were executed by John Seeley, James Richey and Will Darbro. The unique set design was accomplished by the indefatigable Mr. Rider.

"The Tempest" will be presented weekend evenings through October 25.

Carmel Women Are Preparing For Giant Democratic Bazaar

A number of Carmel women are working with a large contingent of Monterey Bay area women on the most ambitious fund-raising bazaar ever attempted by the Carmel Women's Democratic Club. The bazaar will be held on October 3 in the exhibition hall at the fairgrounds in Monterey between 10:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. General chairman is Mrs. Alfred Ulan.

Foremost among the Carmelites who are putting their efforts into this event is Mrs. Jerome Carlson who handles the publicity and will work at the jewelry counter assisted by Mrs. Helen Arnold and Mrs. Harwell Dyer. Others include Mrs. Gordon Campbell and Mrs. Marialice Champe, who will be in charge of the snack bar, and Mrs. Alvin Andrus, baked goods.

Especially exciting is the word that Mrs. John Robotti has been assembling antiques and objects of art as chairman of that area of the bazaar. Mrs. Robotti has stated that art dealers and gift shop owners will be welcome.

Still others from Carmel are Mrs. Paul Low who has been working for many weeks putting up preserves for the gourmet booth; also Miss Lyda May Francis, Miss Ethelinda James, Mrs. Ernest Leffingwell, Mrs. J. M. Rigdon, Mrs. William K. Stewart, all lending helping hands to preparations for the bazaar. Treasurer of the Carmel Women's Democratic Club Mrs. Leonard Cohen, is also working on special holiday items which will be available at this giant fund-raising event next month.

REPUBLICAN MEN'S CLUB MEETS TUESDAY NIGHT

Kirke Erskine, president of the Monterey County Young Republicans Club, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Monterey County Republican Men's Club on Tuesday evening. The meeting will be held in the music building of Carmel High School at 8 p.m., with Gunnar Norberg, president of the club, presiding. Mr. Erskine's address will be "What You Should Know About Proposition 14." Members of the various women's Republican organizations are invited to hear Mr. Erskine.

TOWN HOUSE PROGRAMS

At the Carmel Foundation Town House on Sunday afternoon from 2 to 4 p.m. Frederick W. Schaad, a musician, will be the reviewer of Harold C. Schonberg's recently published volume "The Great Pianists." Open discussion will follow Mr. Schaad's review.

Miss Ruth Dodds will tell of her experiences in Israel on Wednesday afternoon at 3 p.m.

Both meetings will be followed by tea. All interested senior citizens and their friends are invited to attend.

In California...
after a swim, beer is a natural

On a hot summer day, a dip in a cool stream can be wonderfully refreshing. Equally refreshing when you're relaxing afterwards with friends is a hearty glass of beer. There's hardly another beverage around that suits what you do for fun as much as beer. Camping, hiking, or just lounging on a lawn chair—beer brings to each just the right touch of extra good living.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

In California, beer goes with fun, with relaxation

White Oaks Theatre Concludes Sixth Summer Season With Musical Fantasy In Newly Finished Building

Closing a three-months run of brilliantly varied performances, Carmel Valley's White Oaks Theatre terminated its successful sixth summer season and initiated its pretentious new theatre buildings last week-end with a memorable program of music and dance, drawing enthusiastic response from delighted audiences on each of the four nights of the presentation.

"The Soldier's Tale," with music by Igor Stravinsky, was followed by Gian Carlo Menotti's "The Unicorn, The Gorgon, and The Manticore," a 12-madrigal fable for ten dancers, nine instruments, and a chorus of 28 voices. Three guest artists from the Oakland Civic Ballet augmented the cast.

Staging and choreography for both plays were the responsibility of Gale Peterson, a member of the teaching staff of White Oaks Theatre training center. Mr. Peterson performed in the title role of "the Soldier," and as the Mayor in "The Unicorn," evidencing a high order of professional ability and knowledgeable theatre. High honors, of course, went to the master actor and teaching veteran, Christopher Milo, always a favorite with Peninsula audiences. He reached new heights with his restrained interpretation of The Devil in "Soldier's Tale," and as the lead character, The Man In The Castle, in "Unicorn." No more sinister Satan could be conceived than his seductive enticements, his leering logic, and his wickedly triumphant laugh as he overcame love with lust. White Oaks Theatre and the Peninsula have been indescribably enriched by Christopher Milo's dedication to this theatre training center. He will also teach fencing as a member of the school staff this fall.

Angene Feves as the Princess in "The Soldier's Tale," and as the Countess in "Unicorn," again proved herself a primadonna ballerina of distinction and outstanding mastery of her art. The other members of the cast, each of whom performed flawlessly, were Walter Duarte, Sandra Lundwall, Toni Bowman, and Marilyn Fowler as The Gorgon. Also the three guest artists from Oakland, Ronn Guidi, Helen Kruschwitz, and Arthur Conrad as The Manticore who at times forgot he was depicting old age and not a menacing demon. Narrator was Richard Darrow.

Chris Nance, the theatre's musical director, conducted the orchestra in each instance, receiving a standing ovation for his remarkable achievement in a difficult production. Orchestra members included Julie Ann Feves, bassoon; Stuart Fox, clarinet; Terry Waldo, trumpet; Frank Epstein, percussion; Charlotte Sax, violin; Ralph Harriman, trombone; Neil Stannard and Tom Pedrini, bass; Emmett Yoshioka, flute; Leroy Southers, oboe; Loree Tucker, 'cello'; Beverly Bellows, harp.

Chorus personnel included soloists Diana Kathleen Draper, Sally Champlin, Mary Bridgit Mulkey, sopranos; Dave Jenkinson, tenor; Ben Loftin, bass; and Dolores Berta, Toni Brandt, Betty Crittenden, Judy Horton, Janis Jones, Esther Makinster, Maggy Merrick, Mary Pattie Mitchell, Kate Porter, Kathy Wilson, Kathy Yuba, Steve Blair, Terry Case, Dick Chamberlain, John Craige, Wayne Davison, Frank Denson, Lee R. Haggard, Paul Horton, Mitch Marco, Dick Reed, Jack Roush, Ron Stark.

The White Oaks Theatre will open its winter season early in November with an acting workshop for teen-agers. Classes start the second week in October.

Headed by Sally Hughes Church, the inspired producer, a dream has come true for these ambitious young people, who, in the relatively short time of five years, have made White Oaks Theatre a respected entity on the Monterey Peninsula, culminating with the construction of their own magnificent group of theatre buildings. Miss Church promises that audiences this winter may look forward to seeing some interesting and beautiful musical and theatre dance works unequalled outside of the country's metropolitan centers. This reviewer endorses her enthusiasm.

Carmelights by Piñon

I'm going to explain to Herb Caen about this issue of the Pine Cone. Yesterday, in his column he nominated this paper for a Rising Above and Beyond award because there was no word about "Lizandick Burton" in last week's issue.

However, M-G-M is going to film part of "The Sandpiper" almost on the doorstep of the Pine Cone in a few days. So-o-o-o-o Marjory Lloyd thought this week she'd better tell Carmelites who they are and what they're doing.

Also she asked me to tell all Carmelites who go in the winter to Puerta Vallarta (that's in Mexico, she says) that Liz said Vallarta in August was, "Beautiful, quite hot, pretty buggy and it rained every day."

I thought of tree-hopping down the coast to see Liz and Dick last week but someone told me a tame bird is starring with them in the movie.

That bothered me, so I didn't go.

Even though it's a shore bird, that sandpiper might fancy a pine nut snack.

Besides, I heard the cypresses overhanging the set are fastened onto boards buried in the ground. That bothered me, too.

Suppose I were ogling Liz from a bough and in the daze that gal seems to create, unbeknownst to me an M-G-M prop man might pick up the tree to cart it to some other location. When I came to I might be just one more nut in Hollywood.

California's Governor Pat Brown admitted Monday night in Monterey that he used to have an eye for the gals. Seems sometimes, in his younger years, he was influenced in his choice of dates by a young lady's hair.

Nowadays, however, he said he realizes this could, indeed, be a "false" basis for selection.

Wiggy?

Sis Elber's boys come up with the darnedest contraptions. Sunday Dave and Dan built a sort of tent on the beach below Jean Arthur's house. Inside they heated rocks over a fire, poured water over the rocks to create clouds of steam, sweltered as long as they could then dashed into the cold, cold ocean.

B-r-r-r-r-r! Those poor pores!

By the way, one of the habitues of the same beach has been missing the past few week-ends. It is Dr. Eric Berne, author of the recently published book, "The Games We Play."

Carmel's psychiatrist-author went to the Community Hospital again this week because he was not recovering as well as was hoped he would from an emergency appendectomy a couple of weeks ago.

I've been asked to tell you, you're missed by the Beach Gang," Dr. Berne.

Now a word about the main beach and a sign of the times. There are now two volleyball nets on the sand at the south end of Carmel's silver strand. The net at the foot of Thirteenth, in Cooke's Cove, has a big rope all around it defining the court area. A sign on one of the posts holding up this net says, "COMPETITION COURT ONLY." Aren't we getting overorganized?"

Planning Commissioner Fred Keeble is nominated as my best Carmelite of the week.

Yesterday, I'm told, Mrs. Dorothy von Meier, commission chairman, was urging other commissioners to go to the League of California Cities convention in Los Angeles. As a lure she told them part of the commission expense budget could be used to pay for their trip.

"There's not enough money in the whole budget to pay me to go to Los Angeles," Mr. Keeble declared.

Planners Consider Mall, Surrey Bus

9 a.m. until 4 p.m. From parking in the vicinity of the high school, they added, free bus service could be provided down Ocean Avenue to the beach during these hours. An attractive bus, possibly one patterned on a surrey with a fringe on top, could provide this transportation.

In addition, their letter proposed making streets crossing Ocean Avenue in the closed area one-way.

A visit to Williamsburg, Virginia, this summer had led them to make the above proposals, their letter said. They had noted that in Williamsburg traffic was handled in a somewhat similar manner to their proposal and took care of a visitor parking problem in many ways like Carmel's.

Planning Commissioner Fred Keeble remarked that the Gresham-Meehan letter embodied recommendations on traffic control and flow which the commission had pleaded for with the city council to no avail. He suggested that the letter might cause the council to reopen thinking about some of the ideas they had previously repudiated.

Chairman Dorothy von Meier pointed out that traffic control was outside the jurisdiction of the planning commission but the letter would be sent to the council with appropriate comment.

The tall, pointed-roof building in the shape of a carousel was included in plans presented to the commission for a children's shops and offices development at the southwest corner of Junipero and Fourth on land owned by J. O. Handley.

The design of the court complex, by Donald F. L. Wald, A.I.A., appeared to somewhat shock planning commissioners. The carousel-type toy shop was situated in the plans at the front on the corner. Around it were grouped other buildings with many arches. One had a large second story balcony.

Commissioner J. B. Martin Jr. dubbed the development "a honky-tonk deal." Commissioners Hugh Smith, Florence Josselyn and Fred Keeble thought the architectural treatment was too extreme. Commissioner George Willox stated the building, for Carmel, should be a little more reserved. Chairman von Meier found the many arches distracting.

Ralph Stean, appearing for the developer, said, in his opinion the complex was Carmelish with a touch of the old world. Architect Wald emphasized he had geared his plans towards children and had wished to get away from formal and symmetrical designs—be "a little bit playful."

The commission asked Mr. Wald and Mr. Stean to present modified plans to the commission's design review committee on Monday. These plans will be acted upon at the commission's regular meeting on Wednesday.

Yesterday afternoon the commission also renewed a use permit for one year for the Citizens Committee information sign at Dolores and Ocean; referred to its land use committee a request from Mrs. Dorothy Coy to divide property on the east side of Crespi south of Mountain View into two irregular building sites; approved a use permit for a 12-space parking lot for the new Wells-Fargo Bank which is being constructed on the east side of San Carlos below Ocean.

William Lawson

William J. Lawson, a resident of Carmel for the past four years, died on Thursday night in a local hospital, following a period of failing health.

A native of Utah, Mr. Lawson was born August 21, 1883.

As a young man Mr. Lawson went to San Francisco to make his home there. From 1906 onward he was a practicing accountant in that city. He was a veteran of World War I, serving with the army overseas. Upon his retirement in 1960, Mr. Lawson came to Carmel with his wife, Ferol, to make his home here.

He was an active member of All Saints' Episcopal Church, also a member of California Lodge No. 1, F.&A.M.

His wife is his sole survivor.

Private services were held on Saturday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, with Reverend Peter Farmer officiating. Inurnment followed in a Colma cemetery.

Friends wishing to make contributions in memory of Mr. Lawson are urged to make them to All Saints' Episcopal Day School, or to the charity of their choice.

The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

City Council Briefs

At their five-hour meeting last week the city council took the following actions:

Gave M-G-M permission to film sequences of "The Sandpiper" on Dolores Street between Ocean and Seventh.

Observed a minute's silence in honor of the memory of Allen Knight, former mayor and councilman, who died on August 24.

Heard Councilman Eben Whittlesey report on the coming visit of Senor Manuel Fragas Iribarne, Spain's minister of information and tourism, also Spain's director general of information, Senor Carlos Robles Piquer, to Carmel on October 23, also authorized Mr. Whittlesey to arrange appropriate entertainment for the visitors.

Received an award from Bruce Warden, representative of the California State Automobile Association, honoring Carmel's 19th year with no pedestrian fatalities.

Unanimously voted to meet as a committee of the whole to select items from a Carmel Citizens Committee report recommending policies for the city, then discuss and consider the selected items.

Voted unanimously to install a storm drain underground from Junipero at Tenth south to Eleventh and then easterly along Eleventh to the city limits, cost $37,000. (This will be a city-property owner cooperative project.)

Referred to the committee on lands and improvements a report from the arts and forestry commissions recommending control of tree cutting on private property.

Decided to have a joint meeting of the council's committee on administration, the city clerk and the executive committee of the Carmel Business Association to formulate any necessary or desirable changes in the municipal code pertaining to the granting of business licenses.

COUNCIL MEETINGS ON SUNSET AND PARKING

The city council will meet twice again this month.

The first meeting will be on Wednesday evening, 8 p.m., in city hall. At this time the council will consider the interim progress report of the Sunset Committee. This report, presented to the council by Frank Putnam, chairman of the committee, on Tuesday, recommends development of the Sunset School site, after it becomes city property, by a non-profit organization. In April, Carmel voters approved a $575,000 bond issue to purchase the Sunset buildings and 3.9-acre site for a municipal cultural and community center.

The second council meeting will be on September 30, also at 8 p.m. in the city hall. That evening the council will consider a joint council-planning commission report on the "all-day parker problem" and recommendations for removing some of this type of parking by businessmen and their employees from the residence zone.

Both these meetings, as are all council meetings except executive sessions, will be open to the public.

Board To Hire Guard For Highway Crossing

The board also received a report from the administration showing that the net loss to the district in cafeteria operation over a six-year period had dropped from $10,173 in 1958-59 to $1,896 last year. By raising the cost of lunches in the elementary school to 35 cents this year the district hopes to eliminate any loss in cafeteria operation this year.

A report from Charles Dawson, summer and adult school principal, showed 489 students attended summer school this year and 409 persons attended adult school classes during the summer.

William Wakefield, recreation director, gave to the board a report indicating that the school district's summer recreation program cost $20,435. Total number of persons participating in the program was 1,920 making a total of 69,000 separate participations during a 77-day period. The swimming program at the high school had a sign-up of 620; the Valley pool 395. Of these swimmers, 831 received Red Cross certificates for having completed a certain level of achievement. Total swimming participations totaled 15,172.

Mr. Bair requested and was given permission to hire two full or four part-time additional teachers for the junior high school. Higher enrollment at this school than was anticipated necessitated this action.

Lindalee Buckham, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Weber Buckham of Carmel and Lieutenant Thomas Franklin Vesser, (USA), the son of Mrs. Andrew Vesser and the late Mr. Vesser of Mascot, Tennessee, were married on Saturday afternoon in the Presidio of Monterey Chapel, with Chaplain John W. Young officiating.

Lindalee's gown of white peau-de-soie, with a sweetheart neckline and long-sleeved fitted bodice, was detailed with embroidered Alencon lace accented with seed pearls. The softly pleated bell skirt was floor-length with a chapel train. A crown of seed pearls held her shoulder-length veil of English illusion net and she carried a bible to which a single white orchid was attached. For "something old," Lindalee wore an antique gold brooch that had been worn by her grandmother, Mrs. Albert F. Yaussi of Glendale, for her 50th wedding anniversary and by a great-great aunt celebrating her 50th wedding anniversary.

The bride's sister, Luann, was her only attendant. Her cloud blue dress was floor-length and a small bow at the waist accented its simplicity. Her headpiece was created of blue veiling and she carried a nosegay of pink carnations.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Buckham wore a pink silk ensemble with a matching hat of lace and flowers and a gardenia corsage.

For his best man Lieutenant Vesser chose a fellow officer, Lieutenant Mervyn Resing of Fort Ord. Ushers were Lieutenant Rod Aligood, and the bride's cousin, Richard Yaussi of Monterey Park.

A reception at the home of the bride followed the ceremony.

A graduate of Carmel High School, Mrs. Vesser is currently enrolled at the Kramer secretarial school.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Tennessee. His fraternity is Alpha Tau Omega. He is currently stationed at Fort Ord.

For traveling Mrs. Vesser chose an ensemble of royal blue wool with matching accessories.

Following a honeymoon in San Francisco, the young couple are now at home in Carmel.

In South For Preview

Mr. and Mrs. John Boit Morse left Pebble Beach last Thursday for Los Angeles where Mr. Morse is having a one-man show at the Feingarten Galleries through October 10. He was guest of honor at a preview of the show on Sunday evening.

At the party were Mr. Morse's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Osborne; his son, Peter, who is rehearsal director of the San Francisco Opera; also his son, Richardson Morse, and his wife, Dale, who are heads of the Pomona Valley Shakespearean Festival. Mr. Morse's nephew, Samuel F. B. Morse III and his wife, Mardi, attended the preview, too. They are both students at California State Polytechnic College. Sam is studying architecture there and Mardi is majoring in social sciences.

Trip To Far East

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Redding left Monday for a six-months trip to the Far East and South Pacific, also to visit their children, one of whom is living in the Philippines, the other in New Zealand.

The Reddings visited friends and relatives in the Pacific Northwest this week on their way to Vancouver, British Columbia. They will sail from this port on the P. and O. boat "Iberia." In Manila, they will spend about a month with their daughter and son-in-law, Diane and John L. Van Diem, then continue their trip to Japan and Hong Kong.

Next countries they will visit will be Australia and New Zealand. In the latter country, the Reddings will have a reunion with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dell Redding. Dell has been teaching biology at Marlborough College in Blenheim, New Zealand, this year.

He has written with great enthusiasm about the scenic beauty of New Zealand and the wonderful outdoor sports this country offers.

The Reddings have leased their house on Santa Fe Street until they return to Carmel in the Spring.

Freshman At Columbia

James M. Purvis arrived in New York City yesterday to begin his college career as a freshman at Columbia College, Columbia University. He is the winner of one of the coveted Columbia College Freshman Competitive Scholarships.

Jim graduated in June from Carmel High School where he was president of the science club and active in student government. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Purvis.

During the week before classes start, Jim will meet the deans of the college, founded in 1745, and attend special events and a reception for the incoming class.

Freshman week will also include mixers with women attending neighboring Barnard College, a Broadway play, tours of New York City and a day at the world's fair.

At Cal Poly

Lynn A. Wilmot, who graduated from Carmel High School in June, has registered at California State Polytechnic College in San Luis Obispo. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Wilmot of Carmel Valley.

Mills College Student

Nancy Chapman was one of the new students arriving at Mills College in Oakland yesterday. She will begin freshman year studies on Tuesday. Before this, however. Nancy will attend a series of traditional academic and social events including a picnic at Pine Top on the wooded college grounds, the candlelight Deans' Dinner and garden reception given by Dr. and Mrs. C. Easton Rothwell at the President's House on the campus. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Chapman.

Enter U.C. At Davis

Maynard Petersen Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Petersen will be a freshman this year on the University of California at Davis campus. Entering freshmen from Pebble Beach will be Janis Gholson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Gholson, and Charles Osborne, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Osborne.

Maynard plans to major in engineering; Janis in English; and Charles in mathematics.

Honor Candy Stripers For Hospital Services

Youth, gaiety and enthusiasm were the keynotes of the luncheon initiating the beautiful new conference room of the Community Hospital on September 5 when 25 Candy Stripers and their guests were entertained by the hospital's administrator, Thomas E. Tonkin, Mrs. William A. Byrnes, president of the hospital auxiliary, and Mrs. Ralph W. Thompson, chairman of the Candy Stripers.

Great bowls of red, pink, and white carnations, the red and white striped uniforms of the girls, and the deep rose bib-aprons of the auxiliary members were dramatic color notes in the gold and white room.

For the teen-age guests it was the climax of their summer of volunteer service in many departments of the hospital.

Following the buffet luncheon, during which every guest was presented with a long-stemmed red rose, each Candy Striper went forward to receive her award pin and a copy of the Community Hospital Auxiliary directory, from Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Byrnes. A certificate of appreciation also will be mailed to each Candy Striper, including the 16 absentees.

The 41 Candy Stripers honored on Saturday represented the high schools of the Peninsula, Carmel, Pacific Grove, Monterey, Junipero Memorial, Seaside and Santa Catalina School for Girls.

Mrs. Thompson, who won enthusiastic applause for the outstanding success of her chairmanship of the group, reported that the 41 Candy Stripers had totalled 2,414 hours of service in six hospital departments during the summer of 1964.

Special mention was given six girls who started their volunteer jobs in June 1963 and have two summers of service to their credit. They were Jean Reynolds, Pacific Grove High School, 410 hours; Gwen McEwen, Carmel High School, 256 hours; Karen Gingery, Monterey High School, 213 hours; Janice Ruccello, Monterey High School, 155 hours; Leticia Cascoin, Santa Catalina School for Girls, 116 hours and Marilyn Allen, Pacific Grove High School, 191 hours.

Special aides at the luncheon were two enthusiastic and untiring eight-year-olds, Beth Thompson, daughter of the Ralph Thompsons, and Jane Tonkin, daughter of the Thomas Tonkins.

Peggy Cole, talented daughter of the Ewell Coles, a student at Carmel High School, entertained with two groups of folk songs.

In his informal address, Mr. Tonkin pointed out that the two young aides, Beth and Jane, had not been born when he came to Community Hospital as administrator ten years ago. He emphasized the high professional standing of trained and registered nurses today. He also hoped that within the next ten years many of the Candy Stripers would make use of the hospital's maternity wards and have daughters, who in their turn would wear the pink and white uniforms. The party ended with roars of laughter from blushing teen-age Candy Stripers as Mrs. Thompson paid tribute to "A job well done!"

WORLD AFFAIRS COUNCIL TALK ON COMMUNIST CHINA

Tomorrow evening in the music room at Carmel High School, Professor Liang-Yen Chow of the Chinese Mandarin department at the Defense Language Institute will speak to members of the World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula. The title of his talk is "The Political Consequences of the New Economic Policy of Communist China."

Professor Chow is an authority on Red China. He graduated from Yen Ching University in Peking in 1940 and received an advanced degree from the University of Washington in 1949. From 1945-1948 he was Secretary of the Chinese Ministry of Foreign Affairs. He studied at Columbia University from 1949-51. Since 1961, he has been assistant dean of political arts at the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies.

His talk will be open to members only but persons wishing to join the World Affairs Council will be welcome. There will be refreshments and a social hour following Professor Chow's talk.

Nancy Bottero Wouldn't Trade One-Room School For The World

Returning principal-teacher, Mrs. Nancy Bottero, at little Palo Colorado one-room school welcomed 17 students on opening day last week. This year Mrs. Bottero is putting into practice the concept of a non-graded school, one where there are no grade levels and each child progresses as he or she achieves.

In connection with this non-graded concept, there is in use at the Palo Colorado School, the multi-level reading laboratories, a method of education based upon the individual needs of the learner, a method developed by Dr. Don H. Parker, formerly of Evanston, Illinois and now a resident of Coastlands, Big Sur.

During the summer vacation period, Mrs. Bottero attended San Jose State College summer sessions taking courses in vocabulary building and short story writing. Afternoons were spent in tutoring five children in preparation for their entrance into school last week.

Asked if she continues to enjoy her work at the unique one-room school down the coast, Mrs. Bottero says "I wouldn't trade it for the world!"

It was a time of reunion and rejoicing this past week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. George Smith and family, at their beautifully situated home at Rocky Creek. It was their daughter, Margaret's twenty-first birthday, and Margaret was home from Oakland for the occasion. Their eldest son, Thomas, was home too, back from working this summer for the United States Forest Service at Placerville. Thomas graduated from Monterey Peninsula College last spring and is now entering the engineering department at the University of California in Berkeley. Margaret is employed in Oakland. Margaret and Thomas will share an apartment in Oakland for the coming year.

Big Sur Lodge at Pfeiffer State Park, Big Sur, will close this week-end and will remain closed until next May. "It has been a good season," says Manager Mr. Arthur O'Donnell, "Mrs. O'Donnell and I certainly have enjoyed our summer in Big Sur." This season marks the 28th year of operation of the Lodge by concessionaire Mr. W. H. Raymond of Pacific Grove, and most of that time Mr. Raymond has been the active manager of the establishment and its attendant facilities, the gift shop, coffee shop, dining room, general store and hotel-motel accommodations. This season, just closing, Raymond employed the services of his long-time friend, Mr. O'Donnell as manager. At one time Raymond and O'Donnell operated the concession at Richardson Grove Redwood State Park on the Redwood Highway in Northern California. Although Big Sur Lodge is open only during the summer months, Pfeiffer State Park is open all year.

There have been several recent changes in personnel at the Big Sur Guard Station of the United States Forest Service. Juan Lopez, who was in charge of the Nacimiento Patrol, left for a period of service with the U.S. Army. This patrol position was filled by Bill Krenkel. Patrolman Ralph Haskins, formerly of Salmon Creek Guard Station, was briefly at the Big Sur Station during the summer, but has been transferred to a station in the Lake Tahoe area. To fill the two vacancies at Big Sur, Art Martell, former assistant patrolman in Arroyo Seco has come to Big Sur and an experienced fire fighter from the state of Washington, Walter Pipkin, has also joined the staff.

Stephen J. Goetz, senior fire control foreman, states that there have been no major fire problems in the area within his jurisdiction, however, there have been a number of calls to the station for assistance. In each instance the fire was suppressed or contained before it had reached major proportions. There were several fires on the opening week-end of deer season, and several caused by the malfunction of power poles.

Not only is it the responsibility of the guard station to safeguard the Los Padres National Forest within its area, but also there is the added responsibility of protecting homes and property within the community.

There has been a great deal of apathy concerning fire prevention in the Big Sur area. The main problem seems to be obtaining the 30-foot clearance of inflammable material around buildings as prescribed by California Public Resources Code, Section 4105 . . . Remember — fire prevention protects you as well as your neighbor!

Filming of "The Sandpiper" starring Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton continues at many areas along the Sur Coast. The Doud Ranch at Soberanes Point, a few miles south of Carmel, has been the scene of much activity during the past two weeks and there has been a regular highway patrol, especially during the time of actual "shooting," to keep traffic from causing a problem at this particular area. This week "Sandpiper" filming will take place at the Big Sur Hot Springs where a lovely grotto has been built below the cliffs at this coastal resort. During the time that M-G-M, with its large company of cast and crew, is working on the much publicized picture, considerable filming to be incorporated into a "short" on the Big Sur country, is also being done.

MPC Free Concert Tomorrow Night

Carl Dolmetsch, recorder player, and Joseph Saxby, harpsichordist, will open the fall musical season at Monterey Peninsula College with a recital tomorrow night. Th program will include music of 17th and 18th century masters; music familiar to King Henry VIII and Shakespeare; and 20th century works written for Dolmetsch by leading contemporary composers.

Open to the public without charge, the concert will begin at at 8:30 p.m. in the MPC Music Hall. No tickets will be required for admission.

Called "probably the greatest recorder player of all time," Carl Dolmetsch is also an exponent of the viol, 18th century violin and rebec, as well as an authority on the harpsichord, spinet, virginals, clavichord and lute.

Son of Michael Zacharewitsch, the celebrated violinist, Joseph Saxby toured the United States at the age of 15 as his father's accompanist. In 1932 he met Arnold Dolmetsch and studied the harpsichord with him. Since then he has been Carl Dolmetsch's personal accompanist, ranking as one of the finest and most experienced harpsichordists of the time.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

"We worship spiritually, only as we cease to worship materially" will be one of the themes at Christian Science churches this Sunday. The quotation is taken from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 140).

The Bible Lesson is on "Matter" and includes this verse from John (ch. 4): "God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth."

Committees Tell Flea Market Plans To MPVS Members

Much of the business of the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services meeting on September 11 was concerned with the coming Flea Market. MPVS will present this project on October 7 at the Monterey County Fairgrounds from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Mrs. C. H. Conley is the project administrator and Mrs. T. G. Duncan is the chairman. An advisory committee consists of Mrs. David Taylor, Mrs. Laurids Jorgensen and Mrs. W. L. Noelle.

Reports by the various Flea Market chairmen were given at the meeting last week in the Monterey USO. Mrs. J. B. Farrior exhibited the uniform-apron made by the workshop of the sewing booth, for which members have been busy creating many other articles to be sold.

Another workshop at the home of Mrs. C. H. McIntyre has been working on Christmas decorations and ornaments to be sold in the Christmas booth. Mrs. James Underhill and her committee are collecting and conditioning linens and lingerie to be shown in the linen booth. Any donations in this class will be picked up if a call is made to OL 9-2554.

Solicitation is already being made by the chairman of the gourmet shop, Mrs. G. E. McKinney, FR 5-5758, for homemade cookies, cakes, bread, pies and jams, jellies and pickles.

Mrs. W. H. Church, chairman of the treasure booth is asking for articles of interest to antique collectors, also bric-a-brac and objets d'art. She is assisted by her co-chairman, Mrs. E. P. McMurtry, 624-4020. A household equipment booth is in charge of Mrs. Marjorie Oren, FR 5-7718. Clothing for men, women and children will be presented by Mrs. G. B. Bliss, Mrs. A. B. Mewborn and Mrs. C. E. Howland in their respective booths. A lavish display of jewelry will be shown by Mrs. W. L. Noelle in her jewelry booth, and choice books will be available in the book stall in charge of Mrs. Stanley Wilson.

The decoration of the exhibition hall will follow the theme of the famous Paris market from which this event takes its name, and will be under the direction of Mrs. David Taylor and Mrs. T. G. Duncan. Mrs. Howard Healy, in charge of posters and flyers, reported that these were being distributed. Mrs. Francis Langshaw will provide service at the snack bar throughout the day. Mrs. Archer Allen is in charge of the tickets and Mrs. T. H. Bane of prize tickets. Miss Irene Palmer is the treasurer.

The sum of $573.52 was donated at the meeting to the Carmel Valley Community Center to complete the fencing of their swimming pool. This supplements the $500.00 which MPVS gave to the same Center last Spring towards the building of the pool.

Another donation of $368 was made to the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies, for the purchase of two much-needed typewriters. During 1963, MPVS gave a total of $1108.00 to the institute for other equipment.

B.A. DEGREE

Rodine Merritt McArthur was one of 26 students to complete all requirements for a bachelor of arts degree during the second summer session at the University of the Pacific in Stockton. Roddy will be awarded her degree during graduation exercises held by the university next June. She is a graduate of Carmel High School.

Synchronized Swim Club For Teen-agers

Under sponsorship of the Carmel Unified School District, a new synchronized swimming club will be formed this coming Tuesday at the new Carmel Valley Community Pool. Auditions for potential members of the club will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings at 6:00 p.m. at the pool.

To supervise and coach the new team, called the Cypress Swim Club, the school district has retained the services of Donn Squire, men's National AAU synchronized swimming solo champion, and former coach of the award-winning Fort Ord Ordettes. Mr. Squire will contribute his time on a voluntary basis.

While membership is not restricted to Carmel, it is limited to students in the 9 to 15-year-old age range who have maintained a "B" average scholastically, and who are better than average swimmers. Parents of applicants accepted will be notified and will attend an orientation meeting sometime during the following week to discuss sustaining membership requirements and dues which cover costs of competing in Amateur Athletic Union meets.

Any interested parent wanting further information regarding the program may call Del Neel, public relations chairman, at 624-1566.

Junipero Avenue Being Beautified

This week, the street department has been preparing Junipero Avenue above Ocean for a beautification job. This meant a large twin-trunked pine had to be cut down. The tree was in what will be the widened roadbed between Fifth and Fourth Streets. Street Superintendent Bill Askew says the tree was proved to be dying, also, when it was felled.

When finished, Junipero, above Ocean, will look as it does below. There will be a planted divider strip in the middle. Parallel parking will be placed at each side of this strip. There will also be parking along the new sidewalks above Fifth. These sidewalks will be edged with cobblestones and planted at intervals to screen cars.

Councilman Stephen Grant, street commissioner, says the entire Junipero improvement project will be financed largely by state gas tax funds accruing to the city, and should be finished, weather permitting, by December 31.

The council, last Thursday night, invited bids on the basing and surfacing of the roadbed from Fourth to Fifth, also resurfacing from Ocean to Fifth.

CUT OUT AND SAVE
A few tips on cutting the cost of winter heating bills.

1. Good insulation pays for itself.
Floor and ceiling insulation lets you heat rooms quickly—for less money. Because it increases your home's value—it can pay for itself.

2. Heat circulation requires good ventilation.
If you vacuum the filter from a forced-air furnace you needn't replace it as often. Cleaning wall and floor heaters also insures an even flow of air.

3. Heat dollars can go up the chimney and out the window.
Open fireplace dampers and big picture windows let heat escape. Close the damper when there's no fire, and draw the drapes or curtains in cold weather.

4. Weather strip now, be warm later.
Weather stripping will plug heat leaks around windows and doors. A metal strip's good for doors, thick felt stripping's best around loose windows.

5. Control temperature (and tempers).
Set your thermostat at, say 69° —and leave it there. If Junior says he's cold have him put on a sweater. Frequent temperature changes mean a bigger bill.

6. A little light on your winter bill.
Cold weather increases your use of gas or electricity. Your winter PG&E bill reflects shorter days, more lights and TV, more cooking and new appliances.

Service Bargain
Since 1961 there have been 3 major reductions in PG&E rates. Today, the typical customer pays less than 30 years ago for the same amount of gas and electricity. Which means PG&E service is a bigger bargain than ever.

Shorts In Oxford

Mr. and Mrs. John Short and their children, Manda, Lenci and Jody, are now settled in England. They have a house in Oxford situated on the canal with a little landing in their back yard.

"This is a most extensive waterway and we hope to do a little

This summer the Shorts spent traveling in Europe. Last year John studied at the University of Edinburgh. This year he will be boating," John reports.

a graduate student at Linacre House, Oxford University, working for a B. Litt. which is Oxford's prerequisite for a doctor of philosophy degree.

"Rusty" Beardsley In USMC

Charles Henry Beardsley, son of CWO (USN) and Mrs. Francis L. Beardsley is now undergoing boot training at the Marine Corps Depot, San Diego. Private Beardsley enlisted in the 120-day delay program on June 17.

After he enlisted, he went to Alaska to work on a fishing boat. "Rusty," as he is known in Carmel, elected September 8 as the date to go on active duty. He reported to San Francisco Recruiting at 9 a.m. on that date and was flown to San Diego.

Private Beardsley will receive 11 weeks of basic training in San Diego before being transferred to Camp Pendleton for four weeks of advanced infantry training. Upon completion of this advanced training, he will receive 20 days leave.

Private Beardsley is a graduate of Carmel High School and the second oldest member of Carmel's largest family—20 children.

French Physician Visits

Here for a few days have been the noted surgeon, Dr. Hamburger of Paris, France, and his charming wife. They were honor guests at an informal cocktail party in the Herbert Vial home on Saturday afternoon.

Dr. Hamburger is on a lecture tour in the United States. He left Tuesday to give an address at the University of California, Los Angeles. The surgeon, famous for his contribution to kidney research and transplant, and a member of the Legion of Honor, also gave informal talks at the University of California Hospital in San Francisco at the invitation of Dr. Hopper, Mrs. Vial's brother, who had spent a year in Paris with Dr. Hamburger.

Pierre's Mother Campaigns

Because of her many speaking commitments, in campaigning for her son, Senator Pierre Salinger, Mrs. Jehanne Carlson will be unable to attend the $100 a plate dinner to be given in the senator's honor at the Hotel Fairmont in San Francisco, on Tuesday evening.

With Governor Edmund G. Brown acting as honorary chairman and star entertainers from Hollywood promised, the dinner should be a gala affair. Those wishing reservations should contact Salinger Headquarters, 521 Market street, San Francisco, immediately, Mrs. Carlson says.

On Monday evening, Mrs. Carlson will speak at the opening of the Democratic Party's new San Jose headquarters.

September 25, she will be the honor guest at a reception given for her by her friend of 18 years, Mrs. C. B. Melton, who is widely known for her activities in community and political affairs in Seaside. Democratic leaders of Monterey Peninsula have been invited to hear Mrs. Carlson who will be the principal speaker of the evening.

During the week of October 3, Senator Salinger's mother will make her headquarters in Willitts in Mendocino county. With the Key Women of the Democratic party, a national organization, she will give a series of speeches throughout the area.

Attends S.F. Opera

As a guest of the San Francisco Opera management, Miss Mary Lindsay-Oliver attended the performance of "Parsifal" on Saturday evening. Miss Oliver drove to the city with Mrs. Jocelyn Perry who enjoyed the gala performance with her.

Altar Society Meets

The Altar Society of Carmel Mission Basilica held a membership tea last Thursday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. George McClure, with Mrs. Frank Born acting as hostess.

Serving with Mrs. Born were, Mrs. Frank Falge, Mrs. S. Haskett Derby, Mrs. Anthony Klepich and Mrs. J. Louis Ramos.

President Mrs. Kenneth C. White welcomed new members and guests. The chaplain, Reverend Roger J. Dieudonne, commended the teams of women who care for the altars and linens used during the mass.

Temporary program chairman, Miss Genevieve Gehres, introduced the Reverend Juan Oronoz of San Francisco, speaker of the afternoon.

Ibex Hunt In Iran

Nancy Faridany in a letter to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lofton, tells about experiences she and her husband, Edward, have had on their honeymoon which included being guests of Edward's father in Teheran, also a visit in Isphahan.

She describes Teheran as a city which has a cosmopolitan atmosphere and much new architecture. In contrast, she says Isphahan is "totally different." This city, to her, looked like "a sea of trees on the desert with mosques and minarets sticking up. The houses are mostly all adobe. All one can see from the tree-lined streets is walls with wrought iron metal gates. Some streets have streams running down them where people wash."

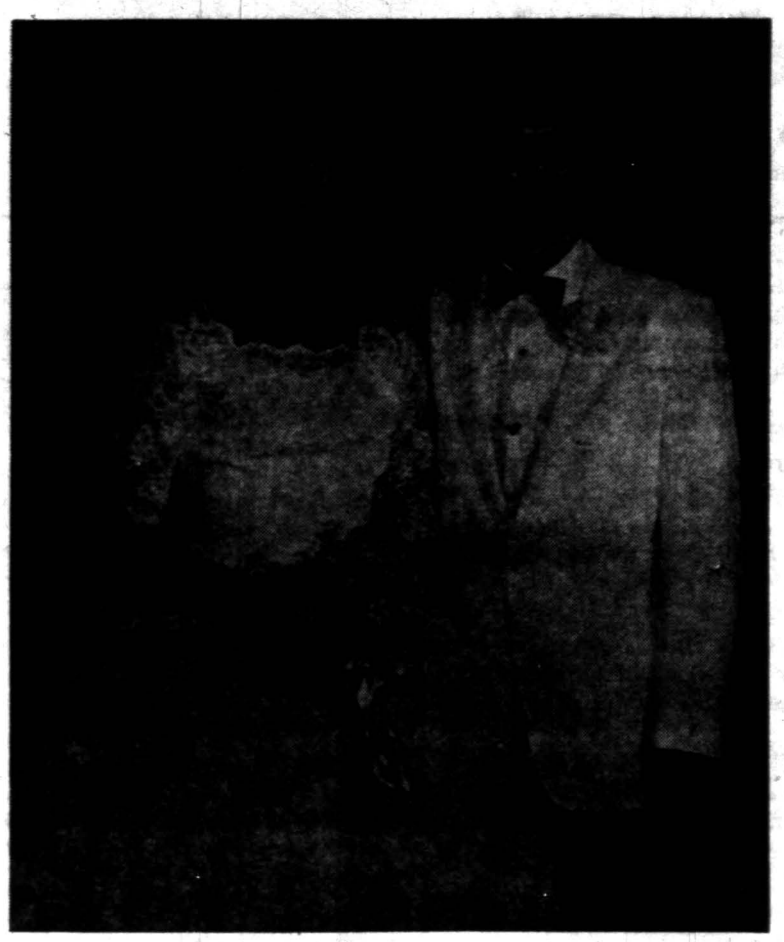
Nancy adds that the center of Isphahan is a plaza which was originally a polo field. The masonry arches above the shops surrounding the square were once the boxes from which nobles watched polo games. The mosques on two sides of the same square "are miraculous — all constructed of tiny pieces of tile cut out in filagree shapes and fitted together in a famous design," she reports.

"The bazaar was my favorite place, though," Nancy continues. "It is a labyrinth of streets, very narrow and closed in above by brick domes. It is quite dark as only square holes at intervals in the ceiling let beams of light pierce the darkness." Nancy and Edward "bought many treasures in the tiny shops in the bazaar amid a constant din of workers in copper, brass, silver and gold."

A highlight of their Isphahan visit was being asked to go on a three-day camping trip in the surrounding desert to hunt ibex, a mountain sheep.

"We spent all day bouncing across country in a jeep and camped at night by springs. We occasionally ran into tribespeople encamped with their flocks and we often saw villagers out grazing their goats and sheep," Nancy writes.

She and Edward travelled through Europe and by boat along the Mediterranean on their way to Iran. On their way home they stopped in England to see Edward's mother in Birmingham. Tomorrow they will leave for the United States. This year, their home will be in Cambridge, Massachusetts, while Edward does postgraduate work at Harvard University.



Wearing a traditional wedding gown of white Chantilly lace fashioned with a fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves, and a voluminous belled skirt; also a circular veil of illusion net held by a double crown of pearls, and carrying a bouquet of white stephanitis and carnations, Martha Taaffe, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ward Taaffe, became the bride of Joseph Charles Zoellin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Richard Zoellin, on Tuesday afternoon at six o'clock.

The ceremony took place in All Saints' Episcopal Church, with the Reverend Samuel Smith officiating. The wedding marches were played by Robert Forbes, the church organist.

Martha was given in marriage by her brother, Michael Taaffe. Her maid of honor, whose floor-length dress was of Capri blue taffeta, was Miss Brenda Branstetter of San Jose, cousin of the bridegroom. There were two flower girls, sisters of the bridegroom, Sylvia and Julie Zoellin. Their short bouffant frocks were of white dotted swiss.

James Zoellin acted as best man for his brother, and the ushers were Timothy Taaffe, brother of the bride, and Harold F. Leary, both of Carmel.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Taaffe wore a two-piece cocktail dress of blue lace.

Mrs. Zoellin, mother of the bridegroom, chose a sheath of watermelon pink silk.

Martha and Joe cut their three-tiered wedding cake during the reception which was held at the Carmel Woman's Club.

Afterwards, amid a shower of rice and confetti, they left by car for San Francisco. Martha's travel suit was of green wool and her hat, a pill box of fur.

Martha and Joe are both Carmel High School graduates and both attended Monterey Peninsula College. They will make their home in Carmel.

Dudley Nix Home

Home, after three months as manager of Frank Sinatra's Cal-Neva Lodge (now closed for the winter) Dudley Nix contrasts the entertainment scene of 30 years ago and today.

"In 1934," Dudley tells, "we paid the piano player and the singer at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco around $35.00 a week. This past summer's entertainment bill at the lodge ran to $35,000. Of course our talent was definitely top drawer, and the many Carmelites who stayed at the lodge this past summer seemed to enjoy it!"

Back in Carmel, for the winter at least, Dudley will assist his wife, Joanne, in her school of ballet and modern jazz.

At Convention

Barnet J. Segal attended the 74th annual convention of the California Savings and Loan League in San Francisco Monday through yesterday. Nearly 1,000 delegates were at the convention which was the largest in the 74-year history of the league.

Lusignans Entertain

Dr. and Mrs. Harry R. Lusignan will entertain at dinner in their Pebble Beach home, on Saturday evening, in honor of their houseguests, Mr. and Mrs. J. Francis Knorp of San Francisco. Expected guests will be Rear Admiral and Mrs. E. E. Yeomans, Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Snideman, and Mr and Mrs. Jesse A. Coe.

Rancho Rio Vista Residents Vote To Stay Unincorporated

The largest attendance yet for the Rancho Rio Vista Property Owners Association was on Tuesday night when residents of this unincorporated area at the entrance to Carmel Valley turned out to vote overwhelmingly against forming a separate city, annexing to Carmel, or becoming part of any future Carmel Valley incorporation.

Of the 146 Rancho Rio Vista association members who voted on the above proposals at the meeting, 105 wanted to remain an unincorporated area; five to annex to Carmel; two to join any Valley incorporation; one to join a separate incorporated city consisting of Valley entrance communities.

A committee appointed to study the above proposals made up of Colonel H. S. Isaacson, Steven Sassoon and Richard T. Wilsdon, reported that annexing to either Carmel or a future Carmel Valley city would increase taxes 20-30 percent. However, improved fire and police protection would be provided, the committee pointed out, if Rio Vista joined Carmel.

Furthermore, annexing to Carmel would give Rancho Rio Vista a stronger voice in the total community, also governmental participation, and provide direct control over developments in the subdivision, the committee added.

Before the closed meeting to vote on the proposals, Supervisor Thomson J. Hudson spoke to the membership. He discussed the future of Carmel Valley in relation to proper residential development, and subdivisions. He also discussed the new association of large property owners, the Monterey County Council for Conservation and Planning, which represents 125,000 acres in the Valley, in Laguna Seca and along the coast. Greenbelts and scenic easements were two other subjects about which he talked. He illustrated his discussion with pictures.

Also present at the meeting, according to Fred M. Naber, president of the Rancho Rio Vista Property Owners Association, were Mrs. Roderick McArthur and Mrs. Roy Forzani, representatives of the Carmel Valley Horseman's Association, also representatives of Alcan's Del Mesa Carmel proposed development and Russell Galloway, who proposes to develop 210 acres as an addition to Rancho Rio Vista.

The membership at the meeting overwhelmingly supported the proposal of the executives of the association that a county service area be formed to supply 14 hydrants in Rancho Rio Vista and a light at the entrance to the subdivision on Carmel Valley Road.

VISITS 'POP'

"Pop" Smith's long awaited visitor, his niece, Miss Kathleen McLean of Bromley, Kent, England, arrived in Carmel on Monday. With Miss McLean were "Pop's" daughter and son-in-law, Louella and Jim Weir of Los Angeles.

The visitor from England has really been shown the glories of our Peninsula. High point of the all too brief stay was a family reunion dinner last evening, at the Homestead.

Miss McLean will leave Carmel tomorrow and fly back to England next week.

Burtons Have Fun On 'Sandpiper' Set

when these cameras were to be used. The cameras were operated from generator trucks parked in the field above the set. Nothing was moved but the cables.

A Big Sur artist, Edmund Kara, designed the interior of the cabin. Inside there was an amazing hodgepodge of articles he had assembled.

A battered vegetable bin held potatoes in the cluttered kitchen and just beyond, on a pedestal in front of the window, was the wooden head of a woman which looked as though it had once been beaten by waves while a figurehead on the prow of a ship. On the porch was an ancient upright piano with its hammers exposed, and, on the porch floor, was an old, faded oriental rug.

But collecting all this "junk" was not done in a day. And soon all of it will be sent to Paris.

Interior shots and sound track will be made there. The scenes shot Saturday were just for action and lip movements.

Mr. Crutchfield explained that noises on the set, such as the roar of the ocean, precluded any of the sound recorded Saturday being finally used. The ocean presents another problem, too, it washes kelp up constantly. When shots are made on the beach, this kelp is raked away and clean sand, kept ready in wheelbarrows, is spread before the camera. Just another of the innumerable details handled effortlessly by the production crew!

But before "The Sandpiper" cast and crew leave, they will make a sequence of the film in Carmel. Between shots many of them, including Elizabeth and Richard Burton, will be wearing brightly-colored nylon parkas bought in a men's clothing store in Pine Inn.

Irene Sharaff declared these parkas to be the 'chic-est" garment she had seen in a long time when the first person to acquire one appeared on the set. Now everyone has, or wants, them. The shop is out of stock and has sent for others to be shipped to Carmel by air.

And as for the cove which two of the world's most famous lovers have used as a background. It is already known to thousands of persons who possess a copy of a book by that famous Carmelite, Robinson Jeffers. The jacket of the volume of his selected poetry published some years ago pictured the shore of the Doud Ranch. Under the sheltering mountain in this picture is the little cove which M-G-M chose as a background for Elizabeth and Richard Burton to have fun making "The Sandpiper."

R. Leigh-Matison

On Monday, Mrs. Rose Leigh-Matison, of Castro Valley, mother of Mrs. Julian von Meier, died following a lengthy illness. She was born in Albuquerque, New Mexico, in 1889, but came to Berkeley, as an infant. Her father was the late Sir James Bell, who was knighted by Queen Victoria for service in India, as bandmaster of the 42nd Highland Regiment, the famous "Black Watch." He gave up his knighthood to become an American citizen in 1885.

Paul Mortuary Is Now A Member Of N.S.M. Organization

Having reached its sixtieth year of service to Peninsula families, the Paul Mortuary is pleased to announce its recent invitation to membership in National Selected Morticians.

Membership in the organization is by invitation only W. M. Krieger, managing-director, said recently in announcing the acceptance of Paul Mortuary to this national organization. Affiliation with N.S.M. is considered an honor because of the high standards that are required. Invitation to membership is extended only after a thorough investigation of facilities, standards of service and reputation has been made.

President of N.S.M. said, "I am privileged to welcome the Paul Mortuary to N.S.M. with every assurance that this reliable firm will continue to serve the people of the Monterey Peninsula in complete accord with the code of ethics of our association."

N.S.M., the world's leading funeral organization, is a symbol of reliability, fair dealing and highest professional skill.

In 1904, J. K. Paul, founder of Paul Mortuary added an undertaking parlor to his already established furniture store.

In 1923, George W. Paul, the second oldest of four sons, became a partner and the first modern mortuary on the Monterey Peninsula was built at its present location. Through the years the firm has expanded and modernized its building and facilities with the times. After the death of his father, George continued to operate the mortuary until ill health forced his retirement in 1942.

Leland J. Paul, then owner of the Paul Funeral Chapel in Arcata, returned with his family to Pacific Grove and purchased his brother's interests. Realizing the need for a more complete service to the families on the Peninsula, the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea Crematory was built on a beautiful site adjacent to the Pacific Grove lighthouse overlooking Monterey Bay.

After completion of naval aviation service in World War II, Thomas L. Paul, son of Leland J., became a partner in the family business. He is now general manager. Tom is interested in, and enthusiastic about, civic improvements and has a keen interest in sports shared by his wife and teen-age son and daughter.

It has always been the policy of the Paul Mortuary to advance and progress. With that in mind, and due to the continued growth of the Peninsula, it seemed advisable to add to the staff. Lowell A. Sawyer, after eight years of employment, became a part-owner in January of 1963. His family—his wife and high school-age son and daughter—enjoy the Peninsula and are taking an active part in community affairs.

The Pauls are proud of their fine business and professional reputation and are ably assisted by a fine and well-trained staff.

IN MARCHING UNIT

Harwood T. Nelson, seaman apprentice, USCG, son of Mrs. Elsbeth T. Nelson, is a member of the U.S. Coast Guard marching unit, based on Government Island, Alameda, that recently won eight awards as one of the top attractions at the Seattle Seafair. It was the Alameda unit's third trip to Seattle for one of the Pacific Northwest's largest annual festivals. The marching unit, composed of a band, drill team and color guard, is a most unique military ceremonial unit. Unlike similar military units made up of rated musicians and seasoned servicemen, the Alameda Band and Honor Guard members are almost all recruit trainees.
